Introduction

Welcome to the Artemis winter 2009 newsletter. We have embarked on an extensive programme that will see our business grow and allow us to offer our clients and professional teams a more complete and comprehensive service. We have undertaken a rebranding of the company which we feel has a strong affinity to the interiors market we operate in. Further to this we are now in the process of attaining ISO 9001 and ISO 14001 which signals our intent to be considered for larger and more diverse opportunities within our area of expertise.

All of the team at Artemis are committed to total client satisfaction and our goal is to constantly push and attain higher standards within our industry. We want to be considered a partner in the process of delivering high quality interiors and to be recognised as adding value to our clients and professional teams. Artemis operates as a main interior contractor and enters into most forms of contracts. We can provide traditional services working with professional teams and advisors as well as providing a full conception to completion Design & Build service.

Within our group we have affiliations with Hunters Contracts www.hunterscontracts.co.uk a fully independent office furniture supplier which can provide a portfolio of products that is both comprehensive and diverse, and Rushnet www.rushnet.co.uk which offers an extensive service within the comms and data market as well as moves and changes. In conclusion, we hope to be the considered choice when selecting an interior fit out contractor and we look forward to working with you in the future.
